LENTEN PERIOD PASSING WITH MUCH TO OCCUPY SOCIETY FOLK

While there has been considerable let down from the whirling tempo by which society disposed of its time, the lenten period is by no means idle. For the classes, lectures, musicals and philanthropic enterprises, and preparations for trips abroad keep every one just as busily busy, even though there is not so much interchange of invitations, as there was a few weeks ago.

The sewing circle of the old-fashioned kind has been revived in popular favor and the engaged girls are having all their friends endeavor for them these afternoons, with tea following, as a reward for industry. Some of the girls can do beautiful work, as fine as the best from the French convents or Madeira workers, and since it is now the fad to have one's finger all done by hand, the girls are all kept very busy indeed. And these affairs are not at all dull. Nothing like a sewing bee as a round up for the stray conversation that interests people. Here, too, one makes the plans for little impromptu luncheons and teas and the bit of work does no harm, and the engaged girls are reaping a lot of benefit from it, and the girls thoroughly enjoy the delightful afternoons of chatter with each other.

The Out-of-Door Circle.

The Out-of-Door Circle is making great progress in their efforts to beautify Honolulu and its surrounding country. Much has been said and a great deal accomplished but, there yet, remains an untold amount of labor and thought before the results planned by this body of competent women can be attained. The individual work of every woman is necessary to accomplish this great work so well begun, and it can not be too deeply drunk in, that, unless the Circle has the united effort of our women, little will be achieved. The hope of the Out-of-Door Circle is that one or two women in each block in their own immediate neighborhood will be responsible for the growth of what ever may be planted, either trees or shrubs, and see that the plants are properly nourished. Plants are like human beings in life, they will die if starved and it certainly behooves every one of us to do our part. It is not for today that this important movement is being carried forward, but the generations to come are the ones who are going to profit by the unselfish and generous spirit that is at the back of this undertaking. The plan at present is to finish Ala Park, before anything else is started, from there the work on Kalia avenue will receive the attention of the Circle. The row of trees to be planted down the center of this, our only boulevard, has not been decided upon, but the hope is that algeria will be the tree selected and as an undergrowth, either bouganvillea or some other low growing shrub. Another hope of the Circle is a beautiful gateway as outlined by Mr. Mulford Robinson on King and Kalakaua avenue. The trellis of staunch iron piping to be high enough and as wide as in keeping with the dignity of the boulevard, this to be covered with beautiful climbing vines such as bouganvillea or huapala. Absolutely no step is taken in regard to this great work unless it has been thoroughly gone over by Mr. David Haughton of the Government Nursery, and Mr. Ralph Hoamer the Government forester, who are lending such great aid and advice. Mr. Julius Aach is also a kindly helper, doing a great deal to help this work along. On the Waikiki side of Ka-lakauna avenue is a cemented waterway and the plan at present is the erection of an iron pipe about five feet high and covering the length of the waterway and planting one of our numerous vines that grow so luxuriantly and are a gorgeous sight to the islander as well as the stranger in our city. The possibilities for beautifying Honolulu are simply splendid. It is sincerely hoped that Ala Moana will be among the places made brilliant with a good road and magnificent flowering vines and shrubs. It would be as much pleasure to our home people as the tourist. Mrs. F. J. Lowrey, who is heading this movement is being most agreeably assisted by a circle of women who always accomplish unquestionably whatever is undertaken by them. The Circle is composed of Mrs. F. J. Lowrey as chairman, Mrs. George Sherman, Mrs. C. M. Cooke, Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Mrs. Isaac Cox.

The board of supervisors are uniting in their effort to assist, are considerate and gracious and more than willing to do their part.

A Whispered Engagement.

There is a whispered engagement of a very prominent young society girl who is in every sense an island girl, to a rather prominent man in the service. More anon!

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Horne Entertain.
A delightful dinner was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Horne in honor of Colonel and Mrs. Brown, who are at present in Honolulu. The dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horne were Colonel and Mrs. Brown and Lieut. and Mrs. Turner of Kamehameha School.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Atherton Entertain.
At a table most exquisitely decorated with the varied colored nasturtiums that grow so luxuriantly in Honolulu, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atherton entertained at dinner for six friends. The evening after dinner was spent in music. Mr. and Mrs. Atherton's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Griffiths, Rev. and Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mrs. Charles Atherton and Mr. Wallace Alexander of San Francisco.

Mr. R. J. Pratt, a dinner Host.
The University Club dining hall was the scene of a jolly dinner that was given by Mr. R. J. Pratt in honor of Mr. Alexander G. Hawes, Jr., who has been so much feted during his short stay in town. The dinner took place on Monday evening and those seated around this hospitable board besides the host were Mr. Alexander G. Hawes, Jr., Mr. Charles Forster, Mr. Henry Geisela and Mr. Bertram von Damm.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewett Lowrey's Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewett Lowrey were dinner host and hostess on Tuesday evening, when they entertained in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Addison of Berkeley, and Mrs. and Miss Whoon of California. The table was beautifully decorated, the center piece being composed of a low silver basket filled with dainty pink begonia blossoms and feathery maiden hair ferns. The place cards were dainty bits of water color. The Lowrey home is one of the most artistic houses in Honolulu, being so arranged as to permit the view of the lower floor unobstructed, the Italian fountain in the center of the floor adds greatly to the attractiveness of the whole. Mr. and Mrs. Lowrey are among the circle of most charming people and an invitation to their hospitable home is always gladly accepted. Mr. and Mrs. Lowrey's guests were Dr. and Mrs. Addison, Mrs. and Miss Whoon, Governor Walter Frear, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Lowrey and Mrs. Henry Waterhouse.

Mr. Noel Deerr Pol Supper.

Bishop Osborne was the complimentary guest of his cousin, Mr. Noel Deerr, on Tuesday evening, when he entertained in honor of this distinguished traveler. The table decorations were, in keeping with the repast, a low rustic basket filled with Hawaiian fruits attracted much attention. At each place, were arranged fragrant malle and carnation leis without which a pol supper would be lacking indeed. Mr. Noel Deerr's guests invited to meet Bishop Osborne, were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes, Jr., Mrs. Francis Mills Swamy, Miss Nora Swamy, Mr. and Mrs. Jamison and Mr. and Mrs. Cockburn. After this delightful feast of Hawaiian table delicacies, the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent playing several exciting rubbers of the all absorbing game of bridge.

Master Charles Chillingworth, Jr., a Birthday Host.

Charles Chillingworth, Jr., celebrated his 9th year birthday on Wednesday afternoon. A most delightful time was had by the boys and the gentle sex, being eliminated. Games and other amusements dear to the hearts of all boys occupied them until the hour for refreshment when all did justice to the delicious refreshments served. Charles' guests were Prince Kalakaua, Arthur Brown, Jr., Leo Cummins, Jack Walker, Abraham Humphreys, Cal-

well Humphreys, Ralph Ault, Frank Thompson, Jr., Richard Simonton, Parker Widemann, Morris Strete-meyer, Ferdinand Hous, Carl Walde-meyer, Tom Church, Wilhelm Walde-mer, James Chillingworth and James Wilder, Jr.

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Demmer's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reynolds of Buffalo, New York, were the honored guests at a well appointed dinner given in their honor on Saturday evening by Dr. and Mrs. Demmer. The table decorations were a rustic brown basket filled with pale lavender asters and pink begonia and feathery ferns the eight guests who enjoyed Dr. and Mrs. Demmer's dinner were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reynolds, Colonel and Mrs. Humbergh, Captain and Mrs. Shuttleworth.

Mrs. James Pine's Luncheon.

Mrs. James Pine was a luncheon hostess on Tuesday of this week at a perfectly appointed table. The five friends sat and enjoyed not only a delicious luncheon but also the society of each other. The table was a mass of lovely yellow roses and ferns. Mrs. Pine's guests were Miss Betty Case, Miss Lydia McStocker, Miss Clara Frank, Miss Alice Cooper and Miss Julia McStocker.

Mrs. James Pine and Miss Cooper's Bridge Luncheon.

Mrs. James Pine and Miss Alice Cooper will be hostesses at a bridge luncheon in honor of their sister, Mrs. Hustedt, who leaves Honolulu on Wednesday for her future home in the States. The luncheon is to be a very elaborate and many novel and surprising ideas will evolve. The Cooper mansion is one of the finest houses in Honolulu, and therefore perfectly adapted to entertainment of any nature. The view is unsurpassed and along with being beautiful is delightfully cool. The decorations for Monday's luncheon are to be very unique and different from the usual run of parties. Mrs. Pine and Miss Cooper's guests will be the guest of honor Mrs. Hustedt, Miss Case, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Helen North, Miss Irene Ballentine, Miss Helen Brown, Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Free-mann, Miss Helen Rockwell, Miss Florence Gurey, Miss Bertha Kopke, Miss Ethel Spalding, Miss Nora Swamy, Miss Frank, Miss Lydia McStocker, Miss Julia McStocker, Mrs. Harry Humbergh, Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Mrs. Donald Ross and Mrs. Johnson of Ruger.

Heart-Catton Yaphits.

Two of Honolulu's old families were brought in closer communion on Tuesday of this week, when Mr. Geo. Heart gave his daughter, Edith to Mr. Robert Catton. The wedding was a small one, only relatives and intimate friends were bidden. The bride was very beautifully gowned in a clinging white robe and the traditional veil was replaced by a pinned white picture hat that was most becoming. After a short stay in the country, Mr. and Mrs. Catton will occupy the Gilman cottage at old Waikiki.

Major and Mrs. Edward Timberlake Entertain.

The charming little bungalow of Major and Mrs. Edward Timberlake was the scene of a very dainty dinner on Tuesday evening, when they entertained prior to the transport hop at the Moana. The table center was a bloom in pink and lavender, a low basket being filled with pink geraniums and modest little violets with the velvety green leaves of the geraniums, as the touch of green at each guest's place was a corsage bouquet of violets and the place cards were also of this dainty flower. Major and Mrs. Timberlake are among the most popular and charmingly delightful people of the service in the islands. Their dear little bungalow breathes an atmosphere of perfect hospitality and welcome. Major and Mrs. Timberlake's dinner guests were Miss Case, Miss Cornet, Lieut. Vaughan, Mr. Ushorne and Mr. Caruthers.

Miss Alice Cooper's Evening Tennis Party.

Miss Alice Cooper was a tennis hostess on Thursday evening when several sets of this very delightful amusement was indulged in. After the sets were played off a delicious chafing dish supper was served at the home of Lieut. and Mrs. James Pine. Miss Cooper's guests were Miss Case, Miss Irma Ballentine, Miss Frank, Mr. and Mrs. James Pine, Mr. Bostrum, Ensign Baughman, Ensign Coman, Paymaster Todean and Mr. Bert Clarke.

Moana Hotel Dance.

The dance given by the management of the Moana Hotel on Tuesday evening was a decided success, the night being cool, made it ideal for tripping the light fantastic toe and the scene was very gay. The drawing room of the hotel makes a very pretty setting for an entertainment and the ad-
